Violence Marks Chicago Vote

MEN IN AUTO FIRE SHOTS AT POLL WORKER

Fair Weather Greeted Most Citizens—Entire Nation Votes

By Associated Press
Chicago—Election violence in connection with the election broke out early Tuesday in Chicago when J. H. Clancy, a Republican precinct worker in the eighteenth ward, was fired on as he was leaving home. None of the shots took effect and the attackers escaped in a motor car from which three men fired several shots. The political skirmishing has been severe in connection with the legislative contests in which the Republican faction controlled by Mayor Thompson and Governor Small are battling for control of the legislature and the beer and wine referendum has aroused some feeling although generally the prohibition organizations have openly declared for ignoring the referendum, asserting it is illegal and of no value and cannot nullify prohibition.

WEATHER TO AFFECT VOTE
Chicago—Fair weather for Tuesday's election was forecast generally for the north central states, except in extreme upper lake regions and the Dakotas where rain and snows expected to affect the size of the vote in the rural districts.

In North Dakota, especially, inclement weather was regarded as a most important factor in the election. Monday's snow storm and the weather outlook Tuesday increased the hopes of supporters of J. E. O'Connor, Democratic nominee for United States senator. O'Connor backers expressed the belief that the bad weather would reduce the Nonpartisan league farmer vote for Lynn J. Frazier, running for the senate under the Republican banner. Frazier's chief strength, his opponents believed rested with the farmers whose pilgrimage to the polls was made difficult by bad roads.

Nine of the 33 states—betting United States senators are commonwealths of the middle west. They are: Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio and Wisconsin. Most of the senatorial contests in these states rank as exceptional nationwide attractions with the Frelinghuysen-Edwards contest in New Jersey and others which have drawn universal interest.

CONTEST FOR MAJORITY
Here in the states of the big River valley the congressional contests play a leading part in determining the full party division of the next lower house of congress. With the Democrats regarded as firmly entrenched as the party tradition in the solid south, the scene of many of the most hotly contested congressional fights in the rest of the nation are laid in the state of the middle west.

In Ohio the Harding administration is put to the supreme test in the off year election Tuesday. Here in the home state of the president, Congressman Fess, a Harding Republican is challenging the senatorial seat of one of the country's foremost Democrats, Arthur C. Pomeroy.

Moonshine Is Li'l Sunbeam To This Farmer

By Associated Press
Chippewa Falls, Wis.—"There is the $3,000 I owe on my farm, give me my note and mortgage, said a Chippewa-farmer as he handed the money over to a banker near here. "How did you do it when other farmers cannot even raise the interest," inquired the surprised banker. "I made it all manufacturing and selling moonshine," said the farmer "and I am done with the game. I have everything paid for now and wouldn't make another drop of moonshine on a bet. I know when I am well off. I haven't the best farm in the world, but it is paid for."

The man's name has not been made public and probably never will be as he has always borne an excellent reputation.

ESTIMATE 80 DEAD, 32 HURT IN MINE BLAST

Fifty Bodies Recovered—Rescue Crews Push On In Bowels Of Earth

BULLETIN
Spangler, Pa.—Thirty-three additional bodies were taken from the Reilly Coal Company mine here, bringing the total dead recovered to 63.

Spangler, Pa.—The bodies of 50 Reilly mine explosion here Monday lay in the city morgue at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Thirteen more were in sight in the mine, rescue workers said and 32 injured were in the miners' hospital.

Leaders of rescuers summarized the situation at this hour. Six men in mine when the explosion occurred not more than 112. Bodies recovered 50. Bodies located in mine 13. Injured in hospital 32. Total accounted for 95.

ESTIMATE 112 AT WORK
There was still some uncertainty as to the number of men who went to work Monday but it was pointed out that if the total was 17 as some authorities believed, the missing 117 would probably be found in the eighth heading where the water had risen so rapidly that exploration Tuesday had been impossible. If these men had gone into the mine, it was asserted, they had probably perished. "That proved true," the leaders said, the number of dead would reach 80.

Efforts were being made to repair the pumps, damaged by the explosion while a force of workers were cutting a passageway through the coal between the eighth and ninth headings. With this work complete, they hoped to reach the last of the unexplored galleries by noon.

When rescue workers entered the mine soon after noon Monday they encountered bodies in the main way only 100 feet from fresh air. They halted only long enough to make sure there was no spark of life and then hurried on into the gassy chambers to search for possible survivors.

FIND MESSAGE
Their hopes were high when they came upon a rudely constructed brattice on which was scrawled:

"There are 29 miners behind this." But the rescuers pushed on deeper into the mine for men who had not fortified themselves. The gas was strong at this point and they feared that should they break down the barrier the weakened condition of the men could not stand the rush of the deadly fumes.

Other rescuers later found more than a score of bodies huddled together. It is believed that this group was one behind the brattice. Five times an explosion has occurred in this mine, but the other four did not register a fatality.

Damage to the mine itself was not great officials announced. They would not issue a statement as to the cause of the explosion but they say that the mine had been examined and reported free of gas just a short time before the explosion.

Des Moines, Ia.—Struck by the police emergency ambulance as it was traveling through town at a high rate of speed, R. C. Covell, traveling salesman of Lansing, Mich., received injuries from which he died Monday night. Officers in charge of the car claimed the man dodged directly in front of them.

2,000 VOTES CAST IN CITY AT 1:30 TODAY

Early Balloting Indicates Heaviest Vote In History Of Appleton

The heaviest vote in the history of Appleton elections is being cast today. At 1:30 the total vote in the 12 precincts in the city was 2,237 and most of the polling places were filled. The great bulk of the vote is cast after 7 o'clock in the evening and the heavy early vote indicates that nearly every person in the city will register a choice before the day is over.

Election officials are commenting on the unusual number of women voting and it is believed most of the ball lots cast in the afternoon will come from the newly enfranchised voters.

The vote at 1:30 was 647 more than was cast in the primary election. Every precinct except those in the Fourth ward reported a larger vote at 1:30 than at the same time in September.

Woman Says She Saw Pair Of Legs Believed To Be Relief Worker's

By Associated Press
Moscow.—The police at Simbirsk who are investigating the disappearance three weeks ago of Philip J. Shields, American relief worker, are holding a woman who told them that late on the evening of Oct. 18 she saw two men lugging a sack in which two human legs protruded. This formation along with the announcement that the police no longer are dragging the Volga in the hope of finding Shields' body was received here by Colonel William N. Haskell, head of the American relief forces from Joseph Dalton, his representative at Simbirsk.

The woman who was arrested lives near the place where Shields' hat was found. In her deposition she wrote that when she was out walking late in the evening she came upon two men standing near a sack that lay on the ground. She overheard one of the men say "Shall we take it there or to the river?" and the other man answered, "Be careful, some one might hear you."

Then according to the deposition the man attempted to shoulder the sack but it broke and the woman saw legs protruding. She said she recognized the shoes as tan Oxford of American make. The men started down toward the river and the woman was unable to follow, she declared.

The authorities arrested the woman in the belief that she was an accessory. They declare the chances are seven in ten that Shields was murdered.

FARMER, MOURNED AS DEAD, RETURNS HOME

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—Andrew J. Bauer, after being mourned as dead for over a year, has reappeared at his farm house near Durand. His reappearance was as sudden and unexpected as his disappearance when on a wintry morning he left a note in the cattle barn saying he was going away never to come back and his clothing was found on the banks of the Chippewa river. His wife and family of small children and his parents conducted a long but fruitless search for him, which was all the more mysterious as he left a large farm and was apparently in good financial circumstances.

Bauer stated that he had spent the time during his absence in northern Wisconsin logging camps and farms.

Congresswoman Seeking Office For Last Time

By Associated Press
Muskegon, Okla.—As voters swarmed to the polls here Tuesday, Miss Alice Robertson of the Second Oklahoma district, only woman member of congress, sat quietly at her desk at campaign headquarters and toying affectionately with hundreds of messages expressing confidence in her victory, said she believed she would win "by an overwhelming majority in her race for reelection on the Republican ticket."

"Regardless of victory or defeat, however she told her supporters" under no circumstances will I ever seek office again. Her opponent is W. W. Hastings of Tallegah, whom she defeated two years ago when he was seeking a fourth term.

Powers Give Turks 48 Hours To Halt Carrying Out Of Sentence

By Associated Press
Constantinople—Ali Kemal Bey, editor of the Constantinople anti-Nationalist newspaper Sabah, has been arrested and condemned to death by the Turkish authorities here, the Allies have been informed. Late Monday night the Allied representatives gave Rafet Pasha, the new civil governor of the city 48 hours in which to release the editor.

MAY DECLARE MARTIAL LAW

Paris.—The Allied high commissioners at Constantinople have asked their governments for authorization to take all necessary measures to maintain order in Constantinople it was announced here Tuesday afternoon. The Commissioners it was stated will declare martial law if necessary.

The French Consul-General, Jean Bar, will leave Toulon to join the Allied fleet at Constantinople.

LONDON IS ANXIOUS

London.—The surprising demands which the Kemalists have made on the Allies in Constantinople since they took over the civil government there on Saturday still causes a great deal of anxiety in London. The feeling of uneasiness has been intensified by the scarcity of news from Constantinople last 36 hours.

Lloyd George made some sharp references to the crisis which has arisen in the Near East since his fall from the premiership, in the political address which he delivered before a large assembly at New Castle Tuesday.

"The Near East is beginning to show symptoms of inflammation," he said. "Whatever happens our flag must not lie down."

Later on in his speech, he said: "We had got rid of the Turk but he has looked at the list of new ministers and come to the conclusion that this is the time for another try."

DENY COMMUNIST PLEA FOR REVIEW

Washington, D. C.—Associate Justice Sutherland Tuesday denied the application of William Ross Lloyd and 17 other members of the communist labor party for a writ of error which would bring to the Supreme court for review their conviction in Illinois on the charge of conspiracy to violate the state sedition law of 1915.

William S. Forrest, counsel for the convicted men refused to state whether he would ask the full court, after it reassembles on Nov. 13, for permission to appeal the case and declined to discuss his future plans.

SUN AND RAIN GREET STATE VOTERS TODAY

Early Ballots Indicate They Will Be Larger Than That Of Primary

BULLETIN
Milwaukee—Up to Tuesday noon 21,733 votes had been cast in the city of Milwaukee, 4,737 more than at the primary election up to this same hour. The vote in the 1920 election in Milwaukee up to noon was 53,285.

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Clear weather in southern and middle Wisconsin, but rain only in the extreme northern part of the state favored the getting out of a fair sized off year vote Tuesday. In Milwaukee the early vote was considerably heavier than that of the primary two months ago. The time taken by voters to prepare their ballots indicated comparatively few straight tickets being voted. Interest in Milwaukee-co from a national standpoint centers chiefly in the congressional races in the Fourth and Fifth districts in which the Socialists claim to have a chance.

Election interest increased only slightly as Wisconsin voters went to the polls to ratify, in most instances their primary election decisions. Referendum on three proposed constitutional amendments injected the one new issue that confronted all electors of the state.

VOTE DECIDES PROGRAM

The success of the program of legislation to be submitted by the next state administration will depend upon the outcome of the contests in state senatorial districts. With the assembly overwhelmingly favorable to Governor Blaine, whose reelection is taken for granted by Republican headquarters, the close lineup in the senate will determine the success or failure of the important tax program to come before the 1923 session of the legislature.

The principal fights for senate seats are between John E. Cashman, LaFollette Republican and Frank A. Yindra, Democrat in the First district; T. J. Pruss, LaFollette Republican and Walter Polakowski, Socialist; the Third district; Bernhard Getteman, LaFollette Republican and Paul E. Schmitt, Socialist in the Fifth district; John S. Kaney, LaFollette Republican and William F. Quiek, Socialist in the Fifth district; Ben H. Mahon, LaFollette Republican and C. V. Baxter, Socialist in the Seventh district; Herman Bilgrien, LaFollette Republican and L. S. Keeley, Democrat in the Thirteenth district; Merritt P. White, anti-LaFollette Republican, and Julius H. Dennhardt, LaFollette independent in the Nineteenth district; Joseph Barber, LaFollette Republican, Ralph E. Smith, anti-LaFollette independent and A. J. Plozman, Independent Democrat in the Twenty-fifth district; and John C. Schumacher, LaFollette Republican and Charles Mulberger, independent Democrat in the Thirty-third district.

WILL SUPPORT BLAINE

The Socialist candidates, if elected, are expected to stand with the administration on most measures during the 1923 session, but would not be expected to cooperate when organization of the senate is undertaken. A senate organized by opponents of the administration would hamper its proposed legislation.

The three important congressional fights would change but little the general complexion of Wisconsin's delegation to the national capital. Both Henry Graess, Independent Republican candidate for congress in the fourth district and George P. Schneider, LaFollette Republican nominee and his opponent, expect victory in their fight.

Congressman William J. Stafford in the Fourth district has had a hard fight with Victor L. Berger, Socialist nominee who is again seeking election. Berger has twice been refused a seat in congress. In the other Milwaukee district, the Fifth, John C. Schafer, LaFollette Republican nominee has been vigorously opposed by Edmund T. Melms, Socialist and Joseph P. Dredson, Democrat.

SPECIAL CALL TO CONGRESS IS EXPECTED

Think President Will Ask For Session To Take Place On November 20

Washington—President Harding expects to issue a call Thursday or Friday for a special session of congress convening Nov. 20, it was announced Tuesday at the white house.

The plan for a special session after the election has received the general endorsement of senate and house leaders. It is understood the president feels that by meeting at least two weeks in advance of the regular session the legislative program can be so advanced as to enable the congress to clean up its slate by the time the regular session ends next March 4.

Although the program for the special session has not been worked out definitely it briefly provides for consideration by the house of the merchant marine bill and work by the senate on the Tyler anti lynching measure which has already passed the house.

BLOCK PROSECUTOR IN MURDER INQUIRY

Relative Of Slain New Jersey Pastor May Move Away If Delay Keeps Up

New Brunswick, N. J.—Investigation of reports of a plot to obstruct justice in the Hall Mills murder case and to protect the murderers was under way here Tuesday. Special Deputy Attorney General W. A. Mott, who expects to seek the indictment of the "woman in gray" the latter part of the week on the strength of the eye-witness story of Mrs. Jane Gibson is said to feel that inquiry has been hampered by the refusal of some of the witnesses to tell all they know. Others it is said, have placed obstacles in the way of the investigators and Mr. Mott intends to prosecute them on charges of being accessories after the fact in event he finds evidence supporting the report.

Definite action was promised by Mr. Mott before the week ends and this was taken to mean that the case will be presented to the grand jury Thursday or Friday.

Lavellette, N. J.—Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Rev. Edward W. Hall who was murdered with Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills near New Brunswick on Sept. 14 last, is disappointed at the delay in the official inquiry and is entering plates bringing matters to an issue by leaving town. Mrs. Ethel Stevens, his wife said in an interview here Tuesday.

Robbers Flee When Shiocton Man Fires Gun

Posse, Formed By District Attorney, Closes All Roads To Village

WHIP OF BOSS IS ABSENT AT VOTING POLLS

Local Issues Uppermost In Minds Of Citizens Throughout Nation Tuesday

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—The mood of the nation, millions of men and women marching to the polls Tuesday, is the strangest in a generation.

Unbanned—there never was a time when the political machine meant so little—emotional, uninfluenced by the feeble notes of campaign oratory the election of 1922 is a turning point, a mark of transition from the old to the new in American politics the beginning of an era or cycle whose true meaning is not yet apparent but whose direction is none the less away from the methods and maneuvers of yesterday.

LOCAL ISSUES UPPERMOST
Local, south, east and west vote Tuesday with no common denominator of thought. The critics will say on Wednesday that the administration has been upheld or repudiated as the case may be. Anyone who made such a trip as did the writer cannot honestly say anything of the kind. Study the local state and city situations, observe the personal equations here, there and everywhere, listen to the admissions of Republicans and Democrats that the state legislative election "will carry the congressional candidates in" or note carefully the greater interest and apparent importance to the electorate of their state controversies and the conclusion is inescapable that an off-year election is a historical election, one in which a combination of circumstances entirely unrelated to national issues determines the result.

There is nothing of the spirit of a national crusade in the nation's mood. (Continued on page 12)

While this was being done Mrs. Wagner roused residents of Shiocton and while they were preparing to organize a posse one overzealous citizen living about two blocks from the bank, discharged a shotgun. The bandits immediately fled from the bank, ran to their automobile which was left in a park a few blocks away and disappeared before the posse, coming from all directions, could get close enough to the village to prevent the robbers from turning on side roads.

The bandits had made considerable progress toward opening the heavy vault in the bank. The acetylene torch was used to burn off the combination lock on the door but when it was found that the vault could not be opened that way the marauders turned their attention to the hinges. One of the hinges had been burned off and the other had been attacked. It is believed they would have succeeded in getting into the vault if they had worked a half hour longer but the posse would have surrounded the bank long before that time.

No effort was made to pursue the bandits and the authorities have but meagre descriptions of them.

This was the second attempt to get into the vault within a month and the fourth since the bank was established. About four weeks ago bandits blew a hole in the rear wall of the bank in an effort to get into the vault but were frightened away. Three or four years ago robbers escaped with about $5,000 of the bank's funds and an attempt 12 or 15 years ago was unsuccessful.

The most spectacular feature of the evening was the sensational dash of Appleton police to Shiocton. Officers Kobussen and Delgen and Detective Duval made the trip to Shiocton in 15 minutes, traveling at a rate of 15 miles an hour most of the way. On the way out they saw a Paice car in a ditch along the road, stopped for a minute to investigate and then proceeded to Shiocton. There they learned that the car into the description of the car in which the bandits are alleged to have fled but no trace could be found.

Authorities here were greatly pleased with the splendid service they received from the Wisconsin telephone Co. in their efforts to relay messages in the towns near Shiocton.

Appleton officers worked the remainder of the night in an effort to find a clew to the robbers but no trace could be found.

OF INDIANS, LAD THINKS

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—According to a letter received by Chalmers Travers, secretary of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, Wisconsin is still looked upon as the home of many of the Indians. A letter from one of the children of Polk school in Topeka, Kas. read as follows:

"I am in the third grade. We are studying about the Indians. I know that you live in Milwaukee, where some of the Indians live. I would like to know if you have any booklets you could send us. If you could send some they would help us out a whole lot."

Appleton officers worked the remainder of the night in an effort to find a clew to the robbers but no trace could be found.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Standing on the sidelines. He motioned for the ball. The team opposing saw him—He got the ball—and all.

He wasn't much to look at. He didn't make a hit. But when the ball was passed to him He kicked the wind from it.

There will be lot of sport in town Tuesday night: Election returns, wrestling, and the opening of the city league bowling season.

Appleton is regarded as a good wrestling center. It will remain so as long as the promoters do their level best to keep the game clean.

Ripon beat Northwestern 29 to 0. Lawrence, did not kick 48 to 0, but that is hardly a forecast of what's going to happen next Saturday when Ripon and Lawrence will meet. The best we can venture is that will be a battle royal. The loser will be eliminated from the Little Five championship. Beloit isn't saying so much lately but thinking a whole lot.

The Oshkosh-Appleton game here Saturday will be another feud. Oshkosh is showing improved form. The Sawdust City aggregation trimmed the Fondy eleven to the tune of 33 to 7.

Earl Sharp whose home is really Appleton but was claimed by Neenah is back in the city and training to get even with Herzog of Oshkosh. Sharp was in no condition at the time of the last contest in the Sawdust City and as the result was forced to take a beating in the hands of the veteran and batter. Considering the fact that Herzog fought in 123 battles and Sharp is a little more than a beginner, he did well. The Appleton boy now is training under the supervision of Henry Belzer and as the result of the guidance is showing real improvement. Sharp was promised a chance to even scores with Herzog on the next card at Oshkosh.

Those who witnessed last week's football game at Lawrence field noticed the marked difference in the support of the Lawrence students. We liked the band, we liked the Growling Hunters but our heart goes to the Snappy Supporters.

To those who didn't like the poetry at the top of the column we dedicate the following: He was racing down the sidelines. The stands let out a yell; He was to be the hero— But he fell.

YE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN
By M. J. V. Fose

Prairie du Chien—A 2-year-old buck was captured near here by Henry Wachter, who discovered the deer in a corn field close to the house. He drove the animal, single handed, into the barnyard and then into an empty building until he could notify the conservation commission. A game warden released it, but it refused to leave the farm until it was gently whipped off the place. It rambled off to nearby hills.

Merrill—Rabbit hunters in this region expect to keep their dogs out of the woods after Nov. 10, the laws preventing the use of dogs in the woods from that date to Dec. 10 owing to the deer season. It is said that the closing of the season during which dogs may be used in the woods, until Dec. 10, was by legislative error, but must be observed until after the law can be changed.

Howard—Local fishermen report an unusual scarcity of fish in the bay. This is the time of year when normally the largest catches are made. Frank Barlament, a veteran fisherman said that he is unable to account for it. The condition is not peculiar to any one fishing ground but seems to be general in all of the Green Bay waters. Mr. Barlament's guess is that the continued dry weather has allowed the waters of the bay and its tributaries to become stale and offensive to the fish, driving them out into the deeper water. He says that a few days of rain would freshen the water and bring the fish back.

George Hill To Challenge Mat Winner

BETTER MAN OF TONIGHT'S GO FACES CONTEST

Good Card Expected To Start Wrestling Season In Armory

TONIGHT'S CARD
John Freberg of Chicago (235) vs. Karl Schultz of St. Louis (233). Orville Gray of Elgin, (190) vs. Kid Joy of Fresno (195). Bill Tappert of Appleton (165) vs. Earl Anderson of New York (122).

George Hill, "Appleton's own" wrestling champ, will occupy a ring-side seat at the Freberg-Schultz mat contest scheduled for Tuesday night at the Armory arena and will challenge the winner for a match in Appleton.

Announcement of the grappler's intention to wrestle the best man was made by Elmer Johnston, who is promoting the election night card. According to Mr. Johnston, Hill is willing to call off the scheduled contest with Freberg at Rockford, Ill. on Nov. 10 should Freberg win and have the bout staged here. In the event Schultz is winner Hill will go through with his Rockford plans but will challenge to Schultz to meet him here at a later date.

It is understood that Hill is anxious to take on Freberg in this city in an effort to do away with the claims of Freberg, who it is understood is letting it be known that he is a better man than Hill because two years ago Freberg got a fall on Hill in a go at Waverly beach. Hill asserts that that is history and that he has since outclassed the Chicago wrestler. Hill announced through his Manager, Sam Clapham that he intends to take the world crown before the winter is over. The Freberg-Hill affair at Rockford or here will settle a dispute of long standing between the two men.

The card Tuesday night has the earmarks of a real contest. With the wrestling match as the opener for the season, Promoter Johnston is wasting no efforts to make it a success.

"TLL WIN" BOTH SAY
The principals of the show, John Freberg, Chicago and Karl Schultz, St. Louis arrived in Appleton in time Tuesday to spend several hours in light practice. Freberg was expected to weigh in at 235 pounds and Schultz 223. Both men apparently are fit and each predicted victory for himself. Freberg is a dangerous man with his headlock. Schultz has scissor holds in his trunk whenever he meets a tough one, according to his press agent.

Two youngsters of Appleton will raise the curtain with a fist exhibition. The boys enter at mosquito weights. The first preliminary will be between "Bill" Tappert of Appleton and Carl Anderson who makes his home in the east. Tappert tips the beams at 165 and Anderson at 172 pounds. Tappert has made previous appearances in this city and looks like a comer.

Orville Gray of Elgin and Kid Joy of Fresno, Calif. will meet in the semi windup. Both men weigh about 190 pounds with Joy being five pounds to the good.

Police Gazette rules will prevail. The third man in the ring will be Barney Rhodes of Green Bay. Fred Bushey will keep time.

SIKI'S LIFE STORY

By BATTLING SIKI
As Told to Milton Bronner, NEA Staff Correspondent
CHAPTER TWO—Siki Learns to Box

I saw hard times in Marseilles when the money the German dancer left me gave out. Often I was cold and hungry.

I worked long hours washing dishes and drying them and getting little pay and not much to eat. Some of these Marseilles restaurant and hotel bosses knew how to get the work out of you.

Then I had a piece of luck which was afterward to change my life, as the German dancer did. I met Paul Latil, a boxing instructor at Marseilles. He gave me lessons for nothing. He showed me how to build up strength, how to box and duck and crouch.

A lot of newspaper fellows have written that I have a jungle sort of fighting, and that I am a sort of chimpanzee who has been taught to wear gloves. I have never seen many chimpanzees and never saw any fight.

BUILDS UP STYLE
Every fighting man builds up his own way of hitting the other fellow and of trying to keep from being hit. Call it by what name you will, the whole game is to hit the other fellow and keep from getting badly hurt yourself.

If I can bend and stoop in such manner that all the other fellow can hit is my elbow or the top of my head that's my game. He can't hurt my elbow, and I have a black man's head. It can stand a lot of bumping.

Latil used to get sore because my crouch was not very elegant. I told him it made no difference if it got stronger. Soon, as I got bigger and stronger, I used to help with his gymnasium classes—and kept on washing dishes.

I got my first chance as a fighter in 1913, when I was sixteen. I knocked out Jules Perroud at Toulouse in eight rounds. I was a kid in years but manly in build and heft.

I wasn't a bit scared. I may have been nervous. You know, the crowd and noise. But Siki has never been scared. He's a Senegalese, and they are fighters, as the German found out.

Later that year in Toulouse, I lost to Jean Audouy in ten rounds on points. I was beginning to get a rep. But it didn't bring much money.

GOT LITTLE MONEY
I used to fight for 50 or 60 francs. It seemed an awful lot of money for beating a man.

Early in 1914 I had bad luck. I lost to Jean Audouy in ten rounds on points. I beat Frank Rose again on points in July. That was my last public fight for some years.

Things looked good. I was getting offers to fight other good men for better purses. I was getting stronger right along and learning from each man I fought.

For one thing, I learned that the crouch Latil hated was very useful. I would go in the ring, act nervous, shuffle, crouch and swing my arms wildly.

LEARNS FROM OTHER FELLOW
People laughed and the other fellow would think he had a frightened easy mark before him.

Sometimes he would pull his best punch and land it. I would go down for a count of six or seven. It was only a rest for me, time to think. I wanted to puzzle how the other fellow had landed that blow, how I left myself open. I rarely did it a second time.

Once I learned his style, I made my defense and knew how to go after him. I usually succeeded.

Then came the war, and an end of boxing carnivals in France.

GIBBONS DENIES BOXING SCANDAL

By Associated Press
St. Paul—Mike Gibbons, middleweight boxer and Mike Collins, Minneapolis promoter, who have been managing a string of boxers, have been barred temporarily from staging bouts by the state boxing commission it became known Tuesday.

Johnny O'Donnell, R. K. Moore, Billy Stearns boxers also have been barred pending an investigation by the commission of reports of an alleged illegally staged fight card at Albert Lea last Friday night.

If Gibbons and Collins are found guilty of the charges they may be kept from putting on bouts in Minnesota for two years and the others would be subject to fines.

Gibbons denied any connection with the Albert Lea affair.

STUDENTS FAN : FLAMES AS RIPON GAME DRAWS NEAR

Rivalry Of Long Standing And Race For State Title Mark Coming Grid Tilt

Flames of bitter rivalry for grid laurels are being fanned on the Lawrence and Ripon campuses as the game between the two school toe played at Ripon Saturday is drawing near.

Coach H. D. McChesney and Assistant Coach "Cub" Buck have an unusually heavy program for the Lawrence squad this week. No one was affected seriously as the result of the Northwestern contest and Lawrence students and alumni, while they are not boasting feel confident of the outcome of the tilt.

was, however, that support should first be assured in such lands as the United States and England, and in countries which were neutral during the world war.

Speakers at the assembly, particularly those coming from agricultural districts, voiced opposition to the French administration. They cautioned at the same time against "sighing for the Prussian spiked helmet."

THREE STATE OFFICERS LOSE JOBS ON TUESDAY

By Associated Press

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—Three state officers will be displaced by Tuesday's general election in Wisconsin, two of them as the result of defeat at the September primary.

State Treasurer Henry Johnson after ten years in his present office will see a successor elected to take his place. Mr. Johnson Wednesday will start to make plans for returning to his farm home in Oconto-co.

Attorney General William J. Morgan, after one term in his present office, will retire to make way for the new attorney general. He plans to return to the practice of law in Milwaukee after the inauguration of his successor in January.

Elmer S. Hall, secretary of state, who was not a candidate for re-nomination, will return to Green Bay when his successor takes office. It is expected by his friends that he will return to Madison before long to fill an appointive office, either to the state board of control or insurance commission.

RIGHT PARTY LEADS POLAND ELECTIONS

By Associated Press

Warsaw.—Official results in the general elections held throughout Poland last Saturday were obtainable Tuesday for only 40 of the 444 seats to which deputies are elected. These results gave 19 seats to the Right party, the National minority; six to the Socialist, Labor, Equite and Populist Radical groups each obtained two seats while the Communists and Jewish populist returned one deputy each. The elections were the first ever held for the present day Poland, which came into existence as the result of World war. Women participated in the elections for the first time in eastern sections of the country, as universal suffrage had not previously existed in those districts.

HALT CANADIAN FIRMS IN FRAUD PRACTICED HERE

22 Firms In Puzzle Scheme Classed As One By Post-office Department

Twenty-two Montreal firms, which are believed to be one and the same concern, have been placed on the Canadian fraud order list by the United States postal department.

A large number of Appleton residents have been the victims of these companies by paying exorbitant mailing expenses for premiums they were deceived into believing they had won in solving puzzles. Upwards of 25 postcards were refused delivery daily for a time on account of the fraudulent nature of the solicitations. The firm is said to be receiving 700 orders daily for its jewelry and silverware, said by authorities to be worthless.

The names under which the firm operates are: American Silverware Co., Canadian Silverware Co., Commercial Silverware Co., Community Sterling Co., Crown Silver & Jewelry Co., Grand Silverware Co., Hawaiian Diamond & Premium Co., Imperial Silverware Co., Imperial Silverware Department, International Silverware Co., International Silverware Co., Prize Department, Oriental Diamond & Jewelry Co., Prize Silverware Department, Prize Silverware Co., Premium Dispatch Co., Roy Silverware Co., Radiant Diamond Co., Radiant Diamond Co., Radiant Department, Radiant Diamond & Silverware Co., Standard Silverware Co., Silverware Manufacturing Co., and United Silverware Co. It is said that the persons engaged in this business are changing the name of the company just as fast as they are being placed on the postal fraud order list, and that it is practically a race between the postal department and the Montreal firm.

BLAINE URGES OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Goal of People Should Be World Peace, He Says in Proclamation

Madison—Armistic Day, Saturday, Nov. 11 was proclaimed by Governor J. J. Blaine as a "fitting day during which all the people will turn their minds and pledge their efforts to carry out the world's aspiration for peace and civilization security."

Governor Blaine said that by common consent the day would be a holiday throughout the nation. Following is the governor's proclamation: "One the eleventh day of this month will occur the fourth anniversary of the ending of the world's most destructive war. It was a war of such magnitude that to reflect upon the loss of young manhood is appalling and staggering.

"A conference on the limitation of armaments was convened in Washington a year ago, at which representatives of the nations of the world were brought together to consider the prospects for the reduction of the armaments or the implements of death and destruction. In less than a year after the close of that conference, the world again was on the very brink of a war which promised greater destruction than the late war. The 'next war' was at least temporarily averted.

"It was General Pershing who said that unless there is some solution of the constant problem of world conflicts, civilization is doomed to go headlong down to anarchy and chaos. Cooperation in helping to arouse the national aspirations of the people to activity for a world peace is highly to be desired.

"Saturday, Nov. 11, 1922, by common consent will be a holiday throughout the nation. On that day it will be proper and fitting for the people, so far as practical, to worship at their customary places of worship in a special service, and to hold public exercises in the several communities and schools, to venerate the memory of those who died in the World war in the sacred cause of world peace, and on that day dedicate the services of the people to the achievement of international justice and good will, and the attainment of permanent peace.

"Now therefore, I, as governor of

WHIP OF BOSS ABSENT FROM POLLS THIS TIME

nothing of the urge of party or national principle—it's not a national election at all except in the sense that the states are voting on the same day. And yet 1922 is not like any off-year since 1910. Think back and recall the active campaign waged at that time against schedule "K" and the Payne-Aldrich tariff and the nationwide protest against the "cost of living"—a new term then in political phraseology. Cannonism, an arbitrary rulership in Congress on the part of the Republican party, swept the Democrats with Champ Clark and Oscar Underwood into power.

BEGINNING OF INSURGENCE
The beginning of insurgency came then and the split of 1912 completed the revolt. The autumn of 1914 saw the Democrats on the defensive but they had reformed the currency system, had passed a number of important pieces of legislation and the European war helped divert the nation's attention and began to rally the people behind the president.

Nineteen hundred and sixteen saw war issues foremost and congress remained Democratic as did the presidency. The ill fated election of 1918 saw the beginning, however, of the present mood. Resentment, negative voting, irritation, protest seemed to take the place of the affirmative mandate. There was not so much of a desire for a particular program as the expression of an emphatic wish to dispose of the old program—the battery was "We want a change."

Nineteen twenty saw this even more accentuated. The overthrow of the Democratic party was merely one way of expressing the craving for change. This is truly an off-year, a negative year in politics but just as 1910 influenced what happened in 1912 so can it be unhesitatingly said that 1922 will dictate the outcome of 1924. Wednesday will witness the rebirth of the old party—the placing in a power of new leaders in the Republican and Democratic party, new faces in the senate and house, new personalities who know not the old kings of Israel men who will assist in putting the finishing touches on the so-called "old guard" in both the Republican and Democratic parties, men who will either make two new parties or break them. Wednesday's election is another experiment in personnel—an other search for leaders to guide this country out of what Lloyd George in a more or less similar situation has aptly described as "the wilderness."

the state of Wisconsin do hereby set aside Saturday, Nov. 11, 1922, as a fitting day during which, I trust, all the people will turn their minds and pledge their efforts to carry out the world's aspirations for peace and civilization's security."

Boys and Girls Write a Letter to Santa Claus This Week--

Santa Claus Has a Real Christmas Mail Box Here

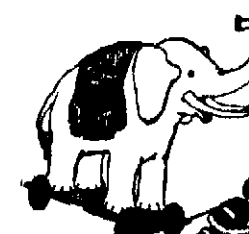

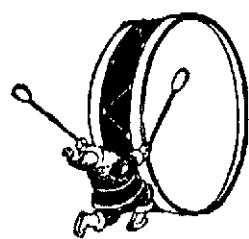

Pettibone's will have a big mail box, just for letters to Santa Claus, at the front of the store. It's time for every boy and girl to write a letter to Santa. Toyland opens this month, and Santa Claus should have your letter before then. How can he know what you want in time—unless you write early? This big mail box in the store will send your letters directly to Santa himself. Santa Claus letters do not require a stamp—just drop them in the big red mail box.

The Best-Written Letters Will Be Reproduced in the Newspaper

When you write your Santa Claus letter—write it just as nicely as possible, in your own handwriting. The nicest looking letters that Santa finds in our mail box will be photographed, and the picture of the letter will be put in Pettibone's advertisement in The Post-Crescent. Wouldn't you be proud if your letter was good enough to appear for everybody to read? Mother and Teacher would think that was mighty fine!

How Letters Should Be Written

All Santa Claus letters must be written in ink on white paper. Write clearly, listing the things you want most for Christmas. Sign your full name at the bottom, with your street address. The envelope should be sealed—and addressed to Santa Claus in care of Pettibone's. No stamp is needed. Mail your letter early, so that he will have plenty of time to read it. Post it in Pettibone's big red mail box.

THE PETTIBONE-PEABODY CO.

SPIED TODAY

CARS RUN TOGETHER

At 1 o'clock Monday afternoon I saw a Ford going east and another coming west on Packard st. Both cars arrived at the corner of State and Packard st. at the same time. The Ford coming from the west but the side of the other car I could not see. As it turned the corner. One of the rear wheels was smashed and the windshield was broken but no one was injured. The owner of the Ford car took the other fellow's name and address and license number.

LOSING BUSINESS TOO

Yesterday morning while walking down College ave I noticed a number of cars sitting on the steps of a restaurant. I soon learned that the owner of the restaurant was still in bed and the girls were waiting for the doors to open. I wonder if the proprietor was out for the night before.

LOST HIS HEAD

Thursday evening I saw a car on the north on Appleton st. It was about to cross the tracks near the Northwestern depot to go on Bates st when the driver heard the train whistling. The driver gave the signal for the driver to go across but instead the driver got excited and ran the car in reverse. The wheels skidded for about fifteen feet before the car stopped.

WANTED VOTERS TO SCRATCH ZUEHLKE

Friends of Earl Schwartz Make Last Minute Effort To Make Him Sheriff

Last minute efforts have been made by supporters of Undersheriff Earl Schwartz to bring about his election to the office of sheriff in opposition to Otto Zuehlke, the regular Republican nominee.

Cards were distributed the last few days before election in which voters were urged to strike out the name of Zuehlke and write in the name of Schwartz. It is understood that a considerable number of Schwartz supporters have been canvassed the count in the undersheriff's behalf.

Mr. Schwartz denies however that he is a candidate. He said he had been asked to run as an Independent, but refused to do so. Friends of his then undertook to campaign for him in the manner described.

Not to be caught unaware, Mr. Zuehlke also renewed his campaign within the last few days by distributing campaign literature urging his election.

*COSTLY PRANK

This happened in Marinette but is so good I believe Appleton people will be interested. A number of boys swiped a decrepit truck from a garage on Hillwood and pushed it to the top of a steep hill. They gave the machine a start down the incline and hopped on. As the car gained speed in the darkness the "driver" tried to put on the brakes but they wouldn't work and the machine crashed into a granite tombstone yard at the foot of the incline. Two guards at the yard that night nabbed two of the kids, learned the names of them all and I learned since that the youngsters' grinds have been ordered to settle for $1,600 worth of tombstones ruined by that wild ride.

WHAT DID THEIR DADS SAY

Last week as I was coming home from school I spied two boys coming on bicycles, one on Fremont st. and the other on Jefferson. The boys were coming at a great speed and not seeing each other crashed together. One boy's pants were torn and he had a big scratch on his leg, and the other had a smashed front fender and bent handlebars but when they were on their feet again they began to laugh at themselves.

UGHT TO ARREST FELLOWS LIKE THAT

Saturday on College ave near W. C. Fick's grocery store I saw a milk man driving a Ford truck turn around in the middle of the block. When he started to go east the truck made a few quick jerks which caused several bottles to fall out.

The driver stopped and going back looked at the broken bottles. He did not attempt to pick up the broken glass, but instead returned to the truck and drove away. Luckily the street sweeper was near and gave the glass his immediate attention.

INVITE DISABLED VETS TO BANQUET ARMISTICE DAY

Legion Will Bring Cheer To Men In Hospitals—Auxiliary At Meeting

All disabled veterans of the world war who are in hospitals or sanatoriums in this locality and who are able to reach Appleton will be guests of the American Legion at the Armistice day banquet to be held in Elk Hall Saturday evening. It was announced at the monthly meeting of the post in Elk hall Monday night.

Ernest Morse, vice chairman of a committee which will try to extend a personal invitation to each man included in this group. It was said however that all might not be reached and that the general invitation through the newspaper therefore should be accepted as official by any disabled man in these institutions.

More than 50 members of the Women's auxiliary to the post were present at the Monday meeting as guests of the membership. They were welcomed by officers of the post and Mrs. J. H. Tippet responded for the auxiliary with a talk expressing pleasure at permitting the women to attend occasionally.

Several important matters of business were discussed. The social portion of the meeting included a one act play staged in a delightful manner by the Sunset Players of Lawton college.

SOULDED SUSPICIOUS

Going home from the theatre Sunday night with a friend we passed the two S. C. Shannon wholesale buildings. Between the two buildings where a box-car usually stands I heard loud cries which sounded like little children under a box car. Without hesitating we notified the police. The cops came and inspected with search lights. It didn't take long and he found two large tomcats biting each others tails.

A LITTLE DIFFERENT STORY

As I was on my way to school I noticed a group of people at the corner of State and Packard st. I learned that two Fords had crashed into each other. A Ford truck was coming west on Packard st. and as it came to the top of the hill a Ford coupe going north on State tried to get across the corner first, but the truck was going too fast to stop and hit the coupe. The truck was lightly damaged, and the Ford coupe had a rear wheel completely off, windshield broken, and the fenders damaged. The Ford truck had the right of way.

LOOKING FOR A DATE

Yesterday afternoon while walking on College Avenue, I saw a sapphire which I picked up in front of Schlarfer's Hardware Store.

About ten feet farther down the street I noticed two girls looking for something they had lost, and I walked up to them and said:

"Did you lose something?" and one of the girls replied, "Oh yes, I lost sapphire setting for my ring." I handed the girl the sapphire and remarked "Is this the one?" She replied, "Oh, thank you kindly. My name is Miss _____, call me at the Dormitory whenever you are not busy."

MAY ASK CITIES OF VALLEY TO SUPPORT SCOUT EXECUTIVE

Regional Plan, With Church As Troop Sponsor, Proposed By Council

That Boy Scout activities will be continued in Appleton through church troops, but probably in a group arrangement whereby one executive will direct the work of several towns was the decision made by the executive committee at a meeting at Hotel Northern on Monday evening. The report of a special committee appointed two weeks ago to determine the interest in scouting in Appleton showed that there was a desire on the part of the parents to have their boys in troops and that because of the willingness of parents to cooperate, the work would be continued here.

In order to determine the attitude of the parents toward scouting in general and toward the church troops, a questionnaire was sent out to 50 parents picked at random from the list of those whose boys have been or are scouts at the present time. Most of them were heartily in favor of the scout program and not more than three were unfavorable to the church troop idea. Troops have been organized in the Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist, St. Mary, St. Joseph and Jewish churches and in some of the largest of these two or three troops will be made.

NAME COMMITTEES. Committees have been appointed to consider the group plan and to work out a united program. Because there are Rotary clubs in each of the cities under consideration and because Rotary clubs endorse the scout program through their boys work committee, it is hoped to bring about a union plan with a district committee to meet monthly and with councils for each city. Until this plan takes more definite form, the cities which it is hoped will unite with Appleton will not be made public.

A canvass is being made in all the schools in the city to learn the age, address and religious preference of every boy between the ages of 11 and 16 years. These will be turned over to the churches and each boy will be asked to join the troop in the church of his preference. Boys who belong to churches where no troops are established will not be barred from be-

If Kids Emulate Dads, Schneider Is Close In 7th

That George Schneider will not have a safe majority even in his own ward was indicated by the vote taken in the seventh grade of the Fifth ward school on Tuesday morning, in which Schneider won from Judge Henry Graess by only one vote. The children in the room of which Miss Regina King is teacher clipped the ballots from the Post-Crescent and voted just as they do at the polls. The vote is taken as an indication of the way in which the children's parents will vote.

Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper received only five votes from the children, while LaFollett's supporters polled ing Boy Scouts, but will be welcomed into any of the other troops.

Those who were at the meeting were: William Fountain, chairman, Joseph Koffend, Lee C. Rasey, Irving Zuelke, Karl Schuetter, L. J. Marshall, Frank Young, Dr. M. J. Sandborn, E. H. Harwood, Louis Bonini and H. P. Buck.

ON THE SCREEN

Triple Emotional Conflict In "One Clear Call"

Conflict of emotions are recognized by the strongest tentacle of story interest and in presenting the First National attraction, "One Clear Call," starting today, the Elite Theatre offers a striking example of this statement. At least three different clashes of emotional loyalty are depicted in this story which is enacted in a small Alabama town.

There is the conflict on the part of the mother between love for her husband and love for the memory of a son whose name is never mentioned in the family. There is the conflict on the part of the son's wife between loyalty for him and loathing towards the moral code he adheres to. And an important element of the story is involved in the conflict between the son's sworn friend towards the boy and love for the woman whom he is supposed to reunite him with.

From this climax of emotions Director John Stahl has had ample ammunition for a swinging narrative of continuous action and unusual heart interest. Advance reports indicate that the producer-director has utilized this opportunity and produced a picture which, in respect to story interest, excellency of acting and technical production will live up to the zenith of popularity established by his former success, "The Child Thou Gavest Me."

The director has had one of the most meritorious casts ever assembled for screen production to work with. Henry B. Walthall, Milton Sills and Claire Windsor, all of whom have previously starred in their own right, are cast for the featured parts. The remaining players include Irene Rich, Stanley Goethals, William Amos, Joseph Dowling, Edith Yorke, Doris Pawn, Donald MacDonald, Shannon Day, Annette De Poe, Fred Kelsey, Albert MacQuarrie and Nick Cogley.

THETA PHI FRAT IS 26 YEARS OLD

Older Fraternity At Lawrence Will Celebrate Anniversary November 18

Theta Phi fraternity will celebrate the twenty-sixth anniversary of its founding on Nov. 18 following the Lawrence-Hamline football game. The anniversary day is in January but the fraternity will hold the celebration at that time because it is the annual homecoming game and many of its alumni will be present. Plans are being arranged for an elaborate celebration.

Theta Phi, organized in 1897, was an outgrowth of Phi Delta Theta which had its Wisconsin Beta chapter at Lawrence before the Civil war. Due to the fact that so many of its members entered the service the chapter was unable to maintain its charter and from the war to 1897 there were no Greek letter societies at Lawrence. George Banta, Sr., of Neenah who was a member of the Lawrence chapter of Phi Delta Theta was influential in organizing Theta Phi which was granted its charter in 1897 through the efforts of Robert Boyd '98 and several others of the same class. It has the distinction of being the oldest Greek letter organization on the campus.

In its twenty-sixth year Theta Phi has a membership of 321 which includes many prominent Appleton men. Among the Appleton alumni are Dr. A. A. Trever and Dr. Samuel Plantz of Lawrence college, Thomas E. Orison, Dr. J. S. Reeve, James A. Wood, F. G. Moyle, George Stansbury, Talbot Barnes, Harry Sylvester, Ad am Remley, Karl Stansbury, Robert Wolter and Mark Catlin. George Banta, Sr., of Menasha and Col. F. J. Schellner of Neenah also are alumni members.

TAXES ON INCOME TO REACH $164,000

The city of Appleton will pay a tax next year of $59,840.44 on taxable private incomes, according to reports prepared at the office of John A. Lonsdorf, assessor of incomes. The surtax for the state educational bonus will amount to $6,082.50, while the amount to be collected for the teachers retirement fund totals $5,068.44.

One hundred twenty-four corporations in Outagamie county will pay an income of $74,765.32. The soldier bonus surtax will bring in $5,094.91. The educational bonus surtax will amount to $7,882.88, while the amount to be collected for the teachers retirement fund is $7,333.

SENIORS PAY UP TO SHOW LOYALTY

When the matter of class dues is a matter of class honor and glory they should be paid and paid at once. At least that is what the senior class of Appleton high school thought before its weekend campaign which resulted in the class having its dues paid 100 per cent. The payment of class dues counts toward the school spirit cup which will be awarded in the spring. The competition between the seniors and the sophomores is very strong and each class is doing all that it can to beat the other fairly.

To tell the world about the success of their campaign for dues, the seniors dropped an announcement through one of the sky lights in the main room. The students were so startled to see something falling from the ceiling that they rather missed the significance of its message. The seniors feel that no one can go higher than they in the matter of class dues since all of theirs are paid and were paid before any other class.

SOUND FIRST CALL FOR EARLY MAILING OF HOLIDAY GOODS

Parcels For Far Distant Lands Should Be In Postoffice Soon

"Mail early." The first trumpet of the Christmas shopping season has been sounded by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke. The slogan should concern first of all those who have foreign mailing to do.

Those who expect to send Christmas mail or parcels to Europe and other foreign lands should begin to think of it now, he said. The last shipment to Europe before Christmas will be about Dec. 12, but persons should mail earlier to allow for possible delays.

One should make allowance of one month to six weeks in mailing letters or parcels to points as far distant as China and Japan, the postmaster said. Parcel post is subject to being held up at the exchange offices on account of customs and other reasons for investigation. The time to do one's shopping for foreign mailing is now, he said.

The campaign for early Christmas shopping in general meets with the approval of the postoffice department. The custom of mailing parcels and

RAIL BOARD AND THE LIVING WAGE

The action of the United States Railroad Labor board in connection with its opinion on a "living wage" and a "just and reasonable wage" is another indication of the board's unfitness.

It is not the wage question itself that shows up the board's incompetency. The "living wage" and the "just and reasonable wage" are always debatable questions, which it is impossible to determine permanently. Conditions affecting wages change frequently, yet everybody favors a "living wage," a just and reasonable wage, and a "saving wage."

The trouble with the board is that it cannot be harmonious in its agreements; in fact, its agreements are controversies. The board is too partisan in its makeup.

In order to function properly, the board should be unpartisan and unpolluted, like the Federal Coal commission, representing no interest or interests, but all the people. The public probably would not be satisfied to have the suggestion of Secretary of Labor Davis to abolish the board adopted, but would prefer a board or commission constituted like a court.

DEATHS WHICH WERE PREVENTABLE

It is appalling to learn that there were 10,168 deaths in 1921 due to automobile accidents, being equivalent to eleven and a half to each 100,000 of the nation's population. The fatality rate was nine to each 100,000 in 1917, a tripled increase in four years.

Pedestrians are careless and are responsible for many of the fatalities. Yet, the fact remains that it is up to public officers, motor associations and automobilists to stop reckless driving. Nearly all automobile fatalities are preventable.

LIVELIER INTEREST IN SPORTS

Mr. James D. Preston, superintendent of the Senate Press Gallery in Washington, has collected some interesting information in regard to the growing popularity of golf. All important cities have public links, he finds, and the patronage is remarkable.

Chicago has eight courses, New York four, Indianapolis four, and St. Louis, Seattle, Memphis, Toledo, Atlanta, St. Paul, Buffalo, Newark, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Kansas City and Detroit, one or more each. In St. Louis the courses are absolutely free to the public, and in Philadelphia and Newark the charge is one dollar a year. Cincinnati charges seventy-five cents a single round. In many cities the charges are ten to fifteen dollars a year.

Mr. Preston has learned that from 7,000 persons in one city to several hundred thousand in another play on the golf links in a year. Here are indications not only of increasing favor for golf, but for recreation in general. All sports are more popular than ever. Americans are taking more exercise and diversion than formerly.

FASCISTI TO DESTROY PARASITES

Everybody is interested in the program of the Fascisti for political reform in Italy. The candid announcement of Deputy Lupi as to the plans of the Mussolini administration throws light on the situation.

Signor Lupi declares that private initiation is to be restored, socialist and aristocratic plunder are to be destroyed, economic laws will be allowed to operate freely, and state control of banks, insurance and other business discontinued, while business undertakings will be fostered. The government, he says, will stimulate a strong national spirit of progress.

Unusual significance attaches to the Mussolini plan. The Fascisti movement is a popular rebellion against socialism and likewise against class privilege. The outcome should be watched with the closest interest.

ANOTHER DYNASTY CRUMBLES

The Osman dynasty, which the Turkish nationalist assembly has cast down from the seat of power, held sway for six hundred and thirty-one years. It was founded in 1299, and Sultan Mohammed VI, the last of the line to occupy the throne, was the thirty-sixth of his house to rule the Turk dominion.

But the national assembly in relieving Mohammed of power leaves the Osman dynasty its dignity. It decided that the caliphate, having jurisdiction over the Moslem faithful, belongs to the royal family, from which the national assembly will select the one "who is best instructed, the best educated, the most honest and the wisest" for caliph. The sultan was the head of the state and of the church. Now the national assembly is the state and it chooses the head of the church.

Six centuries are only eighteen generations, counting three generations to every hundred years; only twelve generations, counting two to each century. It is a long time to exercise supreme authority, but the people of Turkey have not changed in thousands of years. The New Turkey starts out with representative government and a strong national spirit, but with a manner of studied defiance. Its policy evidently is centered on commercial progress.

LABOR DEFEATS IN ENGLAND

Accounts of municipal elections in England describe the defeat of many candidates representing labor in the principle cities, including the important manufacturing centers. As the power of the labor vote is the determining factor to both the Liberals and Conservatives in the parliamentary campaign, these results are significant.

Why is fear so generally expressed against labor gaining control of government machinery? Why is similar fear not felt when capital, business or agriculture seeks the dominating influence?

Labor is looked on by conservatives as radical in government, and conservatives dread the upsetting of conditions which assure stability. In some respects, capital, business or agriculture is radical when either has adequate influence, this radicalism being of a selfish nature. Experience proves that security and justice are realized through representation of all these forces, without any being dominant.

DOGS

Novelty is the newspaper man's gauge for the measurement of feature news values. That is why the report from Dogwag of a dog which was badly hurt in driving off a mad bull that attacked his mistress was less interesting than the story from Scotts Bluff, Neb., of a man who jumped into a swift stream in an effort to save his dog and was drowned. It is common occurrence for dogs to risk their lives to save human beings. It isn't common for humans to risk life for a dog. But it is a poor rule that won't work both ways. More and more you are likely to hear of dogs saving men these days.

Canine pets are returning to popularity. For this fact many reasons may be given, of which the dog's value as a watchdog and as a companion for children will be the chief. Whatever the reason, we may be sure that every dog taken into a home as a pet must justify itself to assure a pillow in the corner and food. That isn't always true of humans. When you see a man on the street you can't always be sure that he has earned the right to exist by accomplishing worthwhile deeds, by being a kind father, by serving his community or by earning respect of those about him. But whenever you see a dog these days you can mark that dog down as somebody's friend. Somebody thinks enough of him to pay the license tax and provide him with bones. Maybe that is why the average of honest and trustworthy friends among dogs is high. Dogs have to justify themselves from the moment of their first appearance in this world.—GRAND RAPIDS HERALD.

HARDSHIPS OF MOVIE LIFE

If there are among us any handsome young chaps who feel the urge for the life of a movie hero, let them be forewarned. It isn't all slicked down hair, moonlight, and soulful glances that make the flapper hearts go pitter patter over peek-a-boos. Not by a jugful. The word of Rudolph Valentino for it.

To be sure Rudolph draws down $1,250 each Saturday night. But the hardships! To begin with, he saves his employers gave him a dressing room in a building reserved for plectian extra actors, such as spear carriers, members of the mob, and personages in the background. Think of it! The humiliation of not having a room on which was printed the word "STAIR" so that the curios could gather about the door and watch for his appearance.

He wanted a couch to rest upon, when he returned from posing before the camera all tired out from heaving sighs while gazing like a sickly calf into the eyes of the heroine. But instead they built a dressing room for him without a top, and furnished a half-barrel upside down for him to sit upon. His costume was burning hot and while changing his costume he sat down on the barrel.

Such crudelity! After that he could not sit down, because everything was too hot. But to add insult to injury, when the picture was finished the corporation paying Valentino's salary mentioned the names of two women as co-stars in its advertising instead of featuring him as the only star.

That's a free state of affairs isn't it, in this land of the free where slavery was supposed to have been abolished nearly 60 years ago? It is enough to make any rugged cheeked flapper cry. But young men with movie aspirations should know what a hard life they may have to endure.—BIOUX CITY DAILY TRIBUNE.

HOW NOT TO HANDLE BOILS

I'm going to begin within the next 10 or 20 years a monumental system of family medicine and first aid, devoting the first nine volumes to what not to do before the doctor arrives, and several whole pages to the conventional antics of the average bystander, including a short paragraph on popular methods of cultivation of boils.

Whether a plain, every day boil is or is not to be followed by a long line of lusty successors depends on the handling of the boil. There is just one rule regarding the management of a boil, which if strictly obeyed will practically insure the victim against return engagements, and that rule is: Never handle a boil. One person in a hundred developing a boil can or will resist the desire or temptation of getting his fingers on the boil, and even that one, unless he sees that his fingers are soiled, seldom thinks it worth while to wash his hands after he has touched the boil. The pus germs which cause the boil enter from the outside world, not through the blood, and so in the beginning of a boil the wicked germs are present on as well as in or under the skin of the sore spot, and in virulent or nasty condition, ready to do their worst. Curious, inquisitive, undisciplined fingers therefore become contaminated early in the game, and the wonder is that the careless or uncleanly victim of a boil has only a dozen or two successors and ultimately develops immunity to get well in spite of his mismanagement.

Never touch a boil or any sore or pimple that resembles a young boil. If you are one of the 99, then the next best thing you can do is scrub your hands with soap and hot water right away before your finger touches any other portion of your person or any other thing.

Never touch anything that has touched a boil. There are two simple rules. Obey them and you will never cultivate a line of boils. One boil is quite enough for a decent, careful, cleanly intelligent person to have in a season. More later if you will have more.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Gluten Bread

Would you advise me to eat gluten bread instead of ordinary bread, to reduce? It contains no starch.—(Mrs. M. H.)

Answer—Gluten bread yields about 1150 calories per pound. Ordinary white bread yields about 1220 calories per pound. So practically nothing is to be gained, or rather lost, by eating gluten bread in preference to ordinary white bread. I know of no gluten flour or bread which contains no starch. Such bread ordinarily contains about half starch.

A Bad Name for False Hair

Your articles are so much admired in our home that I was shocked when you said "you cannot contract disease from false hair." Would you say that of the kind they sell in the five and ten cent stores? Or were you so interested in taking a sly dig at the bobbed hair girls that you sort of ignored the facts? Knowing the price of transformations, switches, etc., I was particular to demand my locks back when I had my hair bobbed. I believe that is the general rule. How about it?—(Mrs. G. H. H.)

Answer—I should think it wise to keep your own hair. There is no danger of contracting disease from false hair purchased anywhere in the country.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday, November 9, 1897

Louis Jarquet and Albert Dietler of Hortonville were Appleton visitors.

Dr. and Mrs. William Dafter and Mrs. Hall visited friends at Fond du Lac.

An 8-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Pash the day previous.

Len DeGuire departed for Antigo to attend the wedding of his brother.

L. J. Robinson leased the residence vacated by Prof. C. O. Merica.

Miss Clara Lyons of Appleton and Henry Pioso of Chicago were married at Temple Zion.

August Nieschke's car was entered by burglars the night previous and about two dollars worth of goods were carried away.

C. F. Sund, local cashier of the Ashland division depot, was transferred to Oshkosh.

The annual session of the county board opened at the court house. Appleton was represented on the board by W. F. Saecker, Louis Leimer, Louis Schwerbel, John Tracy, Charles Sauter and J. D. Hanebert, and Kauckauna by John W. Clappill, William Konrad, Richard Rohn, A. Dayton and John Schultheis.

The Young Men's Sunday Evening club was to open its course of entertainments the following evening with the Opera Schumann Ladies orchestra.

The Merry Monarch Minstrels held their first rehearsal the previous evening. They were to make their first appearance at Neenah on Thanksgiving Day.

While sewing on a machine the day previous, Miss Burbit ran the needle through her finger.

Flour took a tumble of 25 cents per bushel due to the decline of wheat which was selling at 85 cents per bushel.

THE DRAMA IN AMERICA

The American playwright's moment is at hand. He can no longer rest on his oars and allow his European brothers to do all the work. The recent war took away the barrier of isolation that had from the earliest days in America retarded native artistic development in all directions. The early settler had the obtaining of the bare necessities as his problem. He was occupied with other things than thoughts of art. Those who followed him caught the incentive of home-gettine and the building up of business. He was able to buy his art objects and plays from abroad. So why bother to do beautiful things, or to write worthwhile plays himself? All that is now changed, and the American, whether he likes it, must stand on his own feet and do his own work. He has been forced out of his narrow nationalism with its lack of artistic growth into the great ocean of artistic internationalism, and if he is to have plays, he will be compelled from now on to do his share in the writing of them.

In an interview Mr. Basil Dean, English stage director, said: "Americans have a greater love for the theater than almost any European nation, not excluding the Germans. Also, they have an almost fierce determination to succeed in anything they take up, an inventiveness and resource that overcome all obstacles. Soon they will produce a native drama as alive, as restless, as ambitious as is the corporate will of the American nation."—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

IF HARVEY TRIED TO BE FUNNY IT WAS AT HIS OWN RISK

"Yorick, that man of infinite jest, had nothing on Colonel George B. M. Harvey," in the opinion of the CHATTANOOGA NEWS. But American editors are of one voice in declaring that the American Ambassador to Great Britain has rather gone the limit of facetiousness in his now famous speech on the subject of women's souls.

"There is no doubt," the TACOMA NEWS TRIBUNE concedes, "but what as a private citizen George Harvey has the God-given right to make a monumental ass of himself as often as he pleases. But the spectacle of the Ambassador of a country that has enfranchised women discussing before the London public a question like this must give Britishers an unfortunate conception of our manners and ethics." On the other hand, the BALTIMORE SUN points out that "there is no domestic statute or principle of international law that forbids an Ambassador from trying to be funny. The right to humor is as inalienable as any for which men have fought, but the sad fact remains that there is no standard of facetiousness and a man must be funny at his own risk."

Granting the SUN's view of the matter, the press insists nevertheless that it must be distinctly understood that Harvey was being funny entirely at his own risk and on his own responsibility, and that his views on the matter of women's souls find no reflection in American public sentiment.

The ASHVILLE TIMES admits that so far as the subject matter of his address to the Author's Club is concerned, the question is an ancient one that merely revives an age-old controversy, rather than being, as most writers seem to view it, "a discovery that Colonel Harvey made," to quote the BINGHAMTON SUN. That such a revival impends is suggested by the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT, which reports that "the established church has taken cognizance of the skit with a note of distinct disapproval," and "individual clergy of regular and dissenting schools voice condemnation and threaten to 'preach on the thing.'"

The St. Louis paper goes on to quote "one learned London editorial" as "actually saying" that "the Commandments were given to man in the patriarchal age, when the idea of women as an independent creature was as incomprehensible as the ideal of a star perambulating through space of its own sweet will is to the modern scientist."

But if London editorials are being serious about it, American papers are no less so. Thus we find the NEW HAVEN REGISTER expressing the belief that "probably a good many women would maintain that if there hadn't been any men there would have been no occasion for the Ten Commandments," for the MILWAUKEE KEE SENTINEL contends, the exemption of women from the application of the Decalogue "was due, not as Colonel Harvey thinks, to the fact that women have no souls, but to the fact that they do not need the Ten Commandments. Laws are given only when the necessity for them arises," and while the Decalogue was "necessary, Heaven knows, to keep men within limits," the only obligation of women toward it is "simply to see that the men obey it."

Another Milwaukee paper, the JOHNSON AL, thinks Harvey's philosophy was to be "news to the world," and "more than that, news to the women," who have been going along "thinking that they must not swear or steal or bear false witness or covet," when "all the time they didn't need to do it because the Decalogue applies 'exclusively to men.'" But "a special female decalogue such as the Ambassador proposes" would be the NEW ORLEANS TIMES PICAYUNE holds, "the more difficult to write than a new state constitution, and the chain of amendment to be grafted on to the original text very soon would cause the document to rival the unabridged dictionary in size."

But, the NEWARK NEWS declares, "if Mr. Harvey could not find any soul in America, where is there any significance in his opinion that women have no souls? If as he shown himself competent to recognize a feminine soul if he saw it?" The NEW YORK AMERICAN, however, feels confident that "the Authors' Club will be at least gallant enough to satisfy the learned Harvey with the authentic statement: 'Women have no souls; they ARE souls. Men HAVE souls—perhaps.'"

Distressing as the Ambassador's address may have been, it was not, the NEW ORLEANS ITEM contends, "an assertion of the inferiority of women," as the ladies' Select Committee of the Bill introduced by him to amend the Civil Marriage Act by removing the legal disabilities in the way of marriage outside caste and between Hindus and other communities. Today Dr. Gour again attempted to secure this reference and this time succeeded by the narrow majority of one vote.

The attempts to institute this reform date from the time of Sir Henry Maine, whose introduction of a Civil Marriage Bill in 1868 was rendered abortive by the yielding of his successor, James Stephen, to popular objections. Since then, Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu, in 1911, and Mr. Patel, four years ago, have sought unsuccessfully to revive the measure. The effect of the present law is that an Indian, although able to contract a civil marriage in Europe and in Baroda cannot do so in his own country.

The feature of the debate today was a brilliant speech by Mr. Chatterjee, who, speaking as one affected by the Bill, strongly disputed the right of orthodox members of his own community to make him declare himself not a Hindu. The measure was essential if India was to progress as a nation in the vanguard of civilization, untrammelled by prejudices denying liberty of conscience. The orthodox view of the Hindu was eloquently expressed, while several Mahomedans declared that the Bill conflicted with the Koranic law.

The struggle was between Young India and Old India. Today, largely as the result of the speech of Mr. Chatterjee, who is an Indian member of the Indian Civil Service, Secretary of the Industries Department, and a much-traveled man, Young India won, with Mrs. Annie Besant benevolently smiling from the gallery. The Bill now goes to a Select Committee, but a stormy passage is inevitable, who worshiped lots of gods at once. . . . Wherever you find a god you find a goddess too. There she was, right beside him, and sometimes overshadowing him in the eyes of the worshippers." Quoting the Zend Avesta, the ITEH points out that "the Ambassador fares no better with the old Aryan lore than with the Semitic," for "the peoples who got their religion from the Zend Avesta not only recognized women as possessing souls, but actually worshipped the souls of women." And while it may be true that the ancient Orientals kept their women "in a condition of independence, servitude and inferiority," that fact "proves nothing about her soul or her lack of one. The Christian world for the most part, quite unmindful of Christian doctrine, has kept woman as far subject to men as possible," but all of that "by no means proves that men deny the poor things a soul."

Talking By Light
Two weeks ago, the General Electric Company through its radio broadcasting station, WGY, in Schenectady told thousands of people listening to the program that a new device other than the phonograph was being used to "talk" into the radio transmitter. But no particulars were given of the device used.
Then came Thomas A. Edison to the Schenectady plant. He had not been there in 25 years and there was much to show him. Being the inventor of the first device to record speech so that it could be reproduced, he was intensely interested in this new machine.
So he was taken to C. A. Hoxie's experimental room in the General Engineering Laboratory, where the Photo-Phone, invented by Mr. Hoxie, was shown and demonstrated. Here a film which looked in every respect like a motion picture film, was run through a machine with a powerful light thrown against it just as in the motion picture projection machine, and from a loud speaker and head phones, the voice was heard, full and strong, with all its variations of tone, all its stops and hesitations, all its vital quality inherent in its reproduction. There was an utter absence of any scraping or scratching, as in the phonograph.
Edison marvelled, "What next?" he asked.
There are two great possibilities to this machine. First it makes possible the talking movie, for on a film of the normal width can be the picture and voice, absolutely synchronized. The picture and voice must work together at all times for both are a part of the same film. Secondly, it means a boon to radio broadcasting studios. From a central studio, say in New York City where most of the great artists are located, the artist can sing, play some instruments or talk, into this machine which produces the film. Copies of the film can be made and sent to radio broadcasting stations to produce the picture and voice, the device produces an electric current which corresponds very accurately to the original sound wave. This electric current may be used to actuate a telephone or loud speaker.
"It has been used at the General Electric radio broadcasting station. The voice of the announcer was recorded on a photographic film and sent out with such accuracy that it was impossible to distinguish it from the voice as directly transmitted from the station."

Q. What was the longest game ever played in the major leagues? W. E. B.

A. The longest game on record in the major league was staged at Boston May 1, 1920, when the Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers played 25 innings to a tie, the score being 1-1. In the play-off (two days later it took 19 innings before a decision could be reached, Boston winning, 2 to 1.

Q. What causes dew? L. M. S.

A. Dew is formed when atmospheric moisture is condensed by cold into drops of water upon the grass, trees, rocks, roofs of buildings, etc., and the adjacent air remains clear.

Q. How may a good fire extinguisher be made? E. L.

A. We suggest the following formula: potassium nitrate, 60 oz.; sulphur, 36 oz.; charcoal, 4 oz.; colophony of rosin, 1 oz. Powder separately, dry, and mix. This powder is used by placing it in 5 round paste board boxes, through an orifice in which a fuse is inserted. The extinguisher so made is intended for use in a closed room. It is supposed to act automatically by absorbing oxygen.

Q. How are the Indian Reservations managed? J. W. H.

A. By superintendents who are appointed under the Civil Service Commission through the Indian Office.

Q. How should horses with distemper be treated? B. V. K.

A. Keep the infected horses isolated; give laxative feed; when swellings appear, have them lanced and the abscess cavities syringed with a disinfectant solution.

Q. In correspondence does one ever sign a name? Mr. James Benton.

A. This is never done. One must use only the given names and surname. In the case of a woman who needs to indicate whether she is married, she may add in parentheses, "Mrs. Arthur Crawford."

Singers Work Lustily After Having Supper

That singers cannot eat heartily and then sing was completely disproved at Lawrence Conservatory of Music on Monday evening when the Lawrence choir remained for an informal supper and sang before and after. The choir is getting into shape for the production of "Chimes of Normandy" during the winter under the direction of Prof. Carl L. Baker. The purpose of the supper at the conservatory was to get the members acquainted with each other so that the practices, which will be many, will be enjoyable work.

Even at this early date, when the chorus work only has started indications are that "Chimes of Normandy" will be one of the biggest student musical undertakings in some time.

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by my friends and it restored my normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. MANY NEW BOOKS PUT ON SHELVES OF CITY LIBRARY

"This Freedom" Is Most Popular Of Books Recently Received

Kaukauna—"This Freedom" a story by A. S. Hutchins, the author of "If Winter Comes," is probably the most popular book in the public library at this time. The story deals with a woman who believed that women and men are equals in every way.

Another new book is "Manchuria, the Land of Opportunity," which, while not especially popular, is an exceptional book, according to the librarian, Miss Bell. The book was written and published under the direction of the South Manchurian Railroad and sets forth the progress and conditions in that country. The book is well filled with photographic pictures and customs in Manchuria.

With the coming of the winter months, the circulation of books from the library is increasing. During October 1,633 books were drawn while only 1,154 were circulated during September.

"This Freedom" is only one of a number of new books which have been placed on the shelves. Others are Wonders of Science, Tappan Encyclopedia, J. C. Winston; In the Days of Poor Richard, Eschell; Robin, Burnett; Country Beyond, James O. Curwood; Rainbow Trail, Zane Gray; Some People of Importance, Norris; Gift of the Desert, Randall Parish; Foursquare, Richmond; The Van Room, Smith; Laughing Limited, Putnam; Gentle Julia, Booth Tarkington; Oh, Mary Be Careful, Weston; That Printer of Udell's, H. B. Wright; Swiss Family Robinson, David Wyss; Electrical Machinery, Annet; Bookkeeping Forms, two volumes, Collier Engineering Co.

FONDY GAME TO BE HELD ON THURSDAY

High School Students Show More Spirit As Big Game Approaches

Kaukauna—Things are not so bad in the camp of the Kaukauna high school football candidates as was thought a few days ago. The accident which put Joseph Bayewgon out of line for Thursday's game with Fond du Lac on the local grounds, sort of took the hope out of the Orange and Black followers. However, it looks as though the players who had slipped in their scholastic work are buckling down and indications are that all the regulars will be in the lineup for the fracas Thursday afternoon.

Football candidates were subjected to one of those "heart to heart" talks a week ago following a slump in spirit and a decided dropping off of play. It was a decided dropping off of play. The result has been that the boys are back in suits every evening after school.

The tilt was to have been played next Saturday but due to the homecoming at the university and the difficulty in securing officials made the change necessary. Hostilities probably will begin at 2:30.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Esler were surprised by about 35 friends at their home on Seventh-st, Sunday evening. Dancing and games furnished entertainment.

A dance will be given Wednesday evening in Eagle hall. Music will be furnished by the Electric City orchestra.

Mrs. Hooper Laughs At Men For Their Fear Of Wisconsin's Senator

Independent Candidate Winds Up Her Campaign By Hurling Defiance At Robert M. LaFollette.

With no apparent sign of fatigue from a six weeks' strenuous campaign and with her voice in good condition, Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper of Oshkosh, independent Democratic candidate for United States senator, closed her campaign in Lawrence memorial hall Monday evening before an audience of 1200 persons.

Before stating her position on certain issues she informed her audience she was not afraid of Senator LaFollette and was at a loss to know what there was about him to so scare men.

"He can be beaten," she said, "there is no question about it, and if I am not elected tomorrow it is because the men are so scared they didn't do anything. Now the women are not scared and they have been working, but I do not know whether that is going to carry us through."

ROONEY PRESIDES

Attorney W. J. Rooney presided and introduced Mrs. Hooper as the next United States senator from Wisconsin. She was greeted with applause and several times during her address was interrupted by spontaneous outbursts. Her reputation as a campaign speaker had preceded her and she more than measured up to it.

"You would like to know where I stand," she said, "before you vote for me. You know, I stand for all things for women and children, because I have been working for them for years."

"There is no question where I stand on our deep waterway. I don't claim any credit for it, for I believe any sane person would stand for it and work for it because it is for the best interest of the middle west. It seems to me everyone ought to be for it. New York doesn't want us to have it, but of course New York doesn't know there is anything west of the Alleghenies."

HITS NEW TAX

Mrs. Hooper said she was absolutely opposed to the new tariff law especially as it applied to clothing, aluminum goods and farm produce. What the farmer wants is a market not a tariff, she said.

"They put a tariff on everything the farmer has to buy. We have 5 per cent of the world's people and we are furnishing 24 per cent of the world's food. We have 5 per cent of the world's people and we are furnishing 34 per cent of the world's goods."

"Don't you think the farmer wants a market for his produce? It is a world market we need for farm products and for manufactured goods."

"Well they put that tariff around us. They shut us in and other people out. People are not going to buy from us unless we buy from them and our trade is going to Australia and Venezuela."

"If we have no market, we are ruined. Five per cent of the people raise 24 per cent of the food and make 34 per cent of the manufactured goods. What are you going to do about it? It is the stupidest thing I ever knew a nation to do."

"The speaker did not favor a Republican tariff or a Democratic tariff and said the only solution of the problem was the selection of a tariff commission."

TOO MANY GIFTS

Mrs. Hooper is opposed to the franking system and to the free distribution of seed which she claimed was a useless expenditure of money and said she wanted about one-half of the funds thus spent for the children's bureau and the other half she would turn back to help pay our taxes.

She favored the soldiers bonus and in speaking on this subject favored Senator LaFollette for his war record. She favored also an international court to do away with future wars. "I crave the privilege," she said, "of going down to Washington and putting an end to war for all time. It can be done, but it cannot be done by men alone."

JUST WANTS CHANCE

"I have worked for 14 years in the legislature and congressional lobby. During that time I have never said one word for any special interest and I never shall. I have been lobbying for women and children."

"I want. All I want is a chance to work. All I am asking from Wisconsin is a chance to go down there and work for your children and your grandchildren. We cannot afford to have men like LaFollette down there because things may go wrong at any time."

I am only asking you men and women to send me down there for six years. I don't believe United States senator should be a life job for anyone."

Are you among these thousands?

THOUSANDS of people keep on trying, year after year, to build health from food that has been robbed of certain elements required for perfect nutrition.

If your food doesn't contain the mineral properties that go to build up nerve, tooth and bone structure, there is no other means by which you can get these vital elements.

This is one reason why so many well-informed people eat Grape-Nuts

—the food that enriches the blood, and builds sound, healthy bodies.

Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—baked for 20 hours, which develops the natural richness of the grains and makes for ready digestibility.

And Grape-Nuts is perfectly delicious—served with milk or cream, or made into an appetizing pudding for dinner.

Get a package of Grape-Nuts from your grocer today, and give the family a help to health.

CHAPTER III
It was afternoon when Darragh awoke in his bunk stiff, sore, confused in mind and battered in body. Wier, hearing him stir, came in. "How long have you been back? Did you meet the ladies with your fliver?" demanded Darragh, impatiently.

"I got to Five Lakes station just as the train came in. The young ladies were the only passengers who got out. I waited to get their two steamer trunks and then I drove them to Harold Place."

"Where did you say I was?" asked Darragh.

"Out in the woods, somewhere. The last I saw of them, Mrs. Ray had their handbags and Jerry and Tom were shouldering their trunks."

"I'm going up there right away," interrupted Darragh excitedly.

In a pathetic attempt to spruce up, he knotted the red bandanna around his neck and pinched Salzar's slouch hat into a peak.

"You look like one of Clinch's bums," remarked Wier with native honesty.

Darragh, chagrined, went to his bunk, pulled the morocco case from under the pillow, and shoved it into the bosom of his flannel shirt.

"That's the main thing anyway," he thought. Then, turning to Wier, he asked whether Eve and Stormont had awakened.

It appeared that Trooper Stormont had saddled up and canted away shortly after sunrise, leaving word that he must hunt up his comrade, Trooper Lannis, at Ghost Lake.

"They're coming back this evening," added Wier. He asked you to look out for Clinch's step-daughter."

"She's all right here. Can't you keep an eye on her, Ralph?"

"Very well, sir. But suppose she takes it into her head to leave—"

Darragh called back, gaily. "She can't. She hasn't any clothes." And away he strode in the gorgeous sunshine of a magnificent autumn day, all the clean and vigorous youth of him afloat in anticipation of a reunion which the letter from his lady-love had transmuted into a tryst.

For, in that amazing courteship of a single day, he never dreamed that he had won the heart of that sad, white-faced, hungry child in rags—silkens tatters still stained with the blood of massacre—the very soles of her shoes still charred by the embers of her own home.

About half an hour later he came to his senses with a distinct shock. Straight ahead of him on the trail, and coming directly toward him, moved a figure in knickers and belted tweed.

Flecked sunlight slanted on the stranger's cheek and burnished hair dappling face and figure with moving, golden spots.

Instantly Darragh knew and trembled.

But Theodorica of Esthonia had known him only in his uniform.

As she came toward him, lovely in her lithe and rounded grace, only friendly curiosity gazed at him from her blue eyes.

Suddenly she knew him, went scarlet to her yellow hair, then white; and tried to speak—but had no control of the short, rosy upper lip which quivered as he took her hands.

The forest was dead still around them save for the whisper of painted leaves falling down from a sunlit vault above.

Finally she said in a ghost of a voice: "My friend—"

"If you accept his friendship."

"Friendship is to be shared. . . . Ours mingled—on that day. . . . Your share is—as much as pleasure you."

"All you have to give me, then. . . . Take it. . . . all I have."

Her blue eyes met his with a little effort. All courage is an effort.

Then that young man dropped on both knees at her feet and laid his lips to her soft hands.

In trembling silence she stood for a moment, then slowly sank on both knees to face him across their clasped hands.

So, in the midst cathedral of the woods, pillared with silver, and azure-domed, the betrothal of these two was sealed with clasp and lip.

Awed, a little fearful, she looked into her lover's eyes with a gaze so chaste, so oblivious to all things earthly, that the still purity of her face seemed a sacrament, and he scarcely dared touch the childish lips she offered.

But when the sacrament of the kiss had been accomplished, she rested one hand on his shoulder and rose, and drew him with her.

Then his moment came: he drew the emblazoned case from his breast, opened it, and, in silence, laid it in her hands. The blaze of the jewels in the sunshine almost blinded them. That was his moment.

The next moment was Quintana's. Darragh hadn't a chance. Out of the bushes two pistols were thrust hard against his stomach. Quintana's face was behind them. He wore no mask, but the three men with him watched him over the edges of handkerchiefs—over the sights of leveled rifles, too.

The youthful Grand Duchess had turned deadly white. One of Quintana's men took the morocco case from her hands and shoved her aside without ceremony.

Quintana leered at Darragh over his leveled weapons.

"My friend Smith," he exclaimed softly. "So it is you, then, who have twice try to rob me of my property?"

"Ah! You recollect? Yes? How you have rob me of a packet which contain only some chocolate."

Darragh's face was burning with helpless rage.

"My friend Smith," repeated Quintana, "do you recollect what it was you say to me?"

"Yes?"

How often it is the unexpected which so usually happen? You are quite correct, I am Smith. It has happened."

He glanced at the open jewel box which one of the masked men held, then, like lightning, his sinister eyes focused on Darragh.

"So," he said, "it was also you who rob me last night of my property. . . . What you do to Nick Salzar, eh?"

"Killed him," said Darragh, dry lips, nervously for death. "I ought to have killed you, too, when I had me chance. But I'm white, you see."

At the insult flung into his face, Quintana burst into laughter.

"Ah! You should have shot me! You are quite right, my friend. I must say you have behave very foolishly."

He laughed again so hard that Darragh felt his pistols shaking against his body.

"So you have kill Nick Salzar, eh?" continued Quintana with perfect good humor. "My friend, I am obliged to you for what you do. You are surprised? Eh? It is very simple, my friend Smith. What I want of a man who can be kill? Eh? Of what use is he to me?"

He laughed, patted Darragh on the shoulder with one of his pistols.

"You, now—you could be of use. Why? Because you are a better man than Nick Salzar. He who kills is better than the dead."

Then, swiftly his dark features altered.

"My friend Smith," he said, "I have come here for my property, not to kill. I have recovered my property. Why shall I kill you? To say that I am a better man? Yes, perhaps. But also I should be obliged to say that I am a fool. Yaas! A poor damfool."

Without shifting his eyes he made a motion with one pistol to his men. As they turned and entered the thicket, Quintana's intent gaze became murderous.

"If I must kill you I shall do so. Otherwise I have sufficient trouble to keep me from ennui. My friend, I am going home to enjoy my property. If you live or die it signifies nothing to me. No! Why, for the pleasure of killing you, should I bring your dirty pendarms on my heels?"

He backed away to the edge of the thicket. Quintana's intent gaze became dazed.

"Listen attentively," he said to Darragh. "One of my men remains hidden very near. He is a dead shot. His aim is at your—sweetheart's body. You understand?"

"Yes."

"Very well. You shall not go away for one hour time. After that—" he took off his slouch hat with a sweeping bow—"you may go to hell!"

Behind him the bushes parted, closed.

Jose Quintana had made his adieu.

ENROLMENT IN RELIGION SCHOOL INCREASED TO 206

Value Of Christian Training More Evident As Interest Gains

The Appleton Community school of religious education with the assembly room of the Y. M. C. A. as the school-house, has an enrollment of 206 students, which is an increase of 38 per cent over the enrollment last year. Classes for fourth grade pupils have been added to the program, which, until this year, included only fifth and sixth grades.

Children attending the school are excused from the grade schools at a specified hour each week upon request of parents who desire the youngsters to receive religious instruction. Classes meet at 2:30 in the afternoon and last for an hour. Fifth and sixth grade children of the First and Third ward schools meet for their study hour on Tuesday, fourth grade children of all the wards meet on Wednesday and fifth and sixth grade pupils of the Second and Fourth ward schools meet on Tuesday.

TEACHES FUNDAMENTALS

The day school of religious education aims to provide the children at tending with fundamental religious instruction and to assist the Sunday schools. The half hour on Sundays in the Sunday schools is so short a time it is impossible to give the child much real training. The attendance at Sunday school is not compulsory and when a child attends one or two Sundays and then misses several classes it is not possible even with the best of teachers to give the child a practical working knowledge of Christian principles. The community religious school requires regular attendance for one hour a week and furnishes some of the best equipped persons in the community as its teachers.

Mrs. A. L. McMillan, Rev. C. Wilford Cross and Charles Lense have classes of sixth grade pupils. The book used as a text is "Followers of the Marked Trail" by Frazer. Mrs. W. A. Wagner and Mrs. H. K. Pratt instruct the fifth grade children in "The Life of Christ" by Gates and the fourth grade pupils study the "Introduction to the Study of the Bible" by Chamberlain under the instruction of Miss Marie Finger and Miss Marie Upson.

The classes meet as one group for about ten minutes of opening exercises and then assemble for their classes. The teachers in class work discuss the habits which they wish to inculcate in the children and seek to teach them the principles of Christian living which must be applied at home and at school. The highlight in all the classes is to help the students choose high ideals and standards of living.

Class notebooks are kept which contain reviews of the work done in the texts. Illustrations and maps, most of them made by the children are entered in the notebooks with notes on historical and geographical phases of Bible times. Sixth grade students later will study modern Palestine.

An exhibit of hand work done during the year will be held in the spring and will include work in a number of projects which will be developed from time to time in the classes.

Each teacher is responsible for some phase of religious work and are constantly watching for means of improvement. They meet twice a month with Prof. Earle E. Emme, educational director, to discuss problems which arise.

The Appleton plan of religious education seeks to provide religious instruction for the youth of the city through individual as well as cooperative church effort, cooperation with the public schools while carefully safeguarding the separation of church and state, the adaptation of educational methods and principles to the teaching of religion, the use of three agencies—Vacation Bible school, community training school for leaders and the week-day church school.

Joint Meeting Is Arranged At City Hall—Second-ave Location Gains In Favor With Board, Reports Show

The sites for the east and west schools were discussed by the site committee were the block which is bounded by Winnebago, Durkee, Hancock and Morrison sts and a site at the foot of Union-st on Second-ave. The proposed site on Second-ave would include only a portion of the block west of where Union-st will be continued but there is space at the rear of this block which can be purchased for play grounds and school gardens, it was reported. This Second-ave site is one block east of the portion which was suggested by the Madison commission.

FINISH SIX-MILE CONCRETE ROAD TO CLINTONVILLE

Lack Only 2 1/2 Miles Of Continuous Ribbon From City Of Appleton

The six miles of new concrete on highway 38 between Clintonville and Bear Creek Corners, representing about the longest stretch of concrete constructed in neighboring territory this summer, was completed Saturday. When the last of the cement was poured, Work on one and a half miles of dirt shoulders and on the slab of a bridge just north of Bear Creek is all that remains of the job.

The contract had been awarded jointly to W. N. Tate of Bear Creek and Joseph McCarty of Kaukauna. Progress had often been delayed by the lack of cement and stone. With the aid of last hour deliveries and by combining the two crews the work was rushed to its end.

Completion of this road provides virtually a through stretch of concrete from Appleton to Clintonville, a distance of 35 miles. About two miles between New London and Bear Creek and a half mile between Bear Creek and Bear Creek corners is all that is not yet paved.

PERIODS OF LIFE

Have You Reached the Age of 40?

People aged 40 or over should guard against colds, grippe, influenza and pneumonia. The following symptoms indicate physical decay and lessen your resistance to attacks of colds:

- Constipated bowels—Indigestion.
- Sour gassy stomach.
- Pain around the heart.
- Shortness of breath.
- Congested liver.
- Weak kidneys.

Health, the most precious gift in life, should be carefully watched by everyone. Millions of people today are guarding their health and keeping their system regulated by using Nature's great Herb Tonic—Bulgarian Blood Tea.

The rich juices brewed from the roots, barks, leaves, herbs, plants and flowers of Bulgarian Herb Tea aid Nature to remove the vicious body poisons that are mainly responsible for ill health. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by many physicians as a reliable family medicine and druggists everywhere endorse it as a pure healthful laxative tonic.

FAMOUS QUARTET WILL SING HERE

Canada's Premier Musical Organization Here Wednesday Night

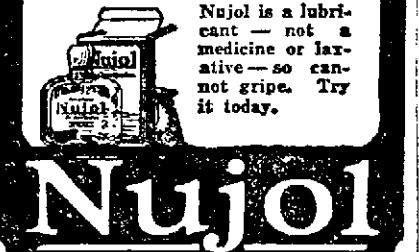

When people in the United States usurp the word American, for their own and speak of musicians and artists from this country as American talent, they forget some of the truly wonderful organizations in Canada and South America. On Wednesday evening, season ticket holders of the Community Lecture and Artist series and those who wish to purchase single admissions will have the opportunity of hearing the Adamic quartet reputed to be the greatest of Canadian singing groups.

The quartet about which little is known in this community was organized by that great Toronto basso, H. Ruthven McDonald, several years ago. Under his direction the group has become one of the most famous in the world for its ease of singing

Sallow, muddy, roughened or blotched complexions are usually due to constipation. The program is made up of solos, ensemble selections from the grand operas, sacred and popular music of a high grade and some old favorite Scottish songs. Hosts Of Women Now Wash The Expert Way

Since Science Entered The Tub

Textile mills avoid the ordinary white and yellow laundry bars that are part "filler" and only part soap, says Dorothy Vernon, writing to women in a large number of newspapers. The fabric mills use olive oil soap because its mildness never harms fibers or colors, but on the contrary, olive oil imparts softness, freshness and sweetness unlike anything else that's known.

It was not until recently, she says, that the housewife could wash her clothes as the manufacturer does. But now The Palmolive Co. has given the home a large, pure all-olive oil soap named GREEN ARROW containing not "filler"—but real olive oil and naphtha. The olive oil—not coloring—gives it its greenish shade, like fine castile. There never has been another laundry soap that leaves the hands of the woman who washes so soft, white and girlish. Nor one that is as mild to your clothes as olive oil shampoo is to your hair.

Probably you wash from $75 to $100 worth of clothes a week—the average family does. Will you continue to risk this to cheap laundry soap that seems to satisfy but fits your clothes with thin spots and holes?

These are caused by pasty "filler" put into common laundry soap to make up size and weight. But "filler" has no washing power. You rub it into the materials and it clings there and eats and cuts the threads. GREEN ARROW is all soap—no "filler". You'll find in a month or two that you're buying only about half as many bars because GREEN ARROW is all cleaning power and goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary.
